

FY 02 CALENDAR (OCTOBER 2001– SEPTEMBER 2002)

[illegible]

SUPERVISORY AND MANAGERIAL TRAINING

The transition from a team member to a team leader or supervisor is the most significant change a person will make during his or her career. Unfortunately, very little of a person's earlier work experiences prepare him or her for the transition. It is important that a supervisor possess the skills which will enable him or her to lead others as well as to manage his/ her own work load effectively.

Learning is a lifelong process, and that supervisors, both new and experienced, have special training and developmental needs. To that end, we strive to provide a program of on-site courses which will meet the needs of these individuals. The courses which we have designed are based on the competencies which have been established by the Navy in the Civilian Leadership Continuum. These competencies, documented within this text, reflect key supervisory tasks performed by all supervisors, regardless of their place in the organization.

NEW SUPERVISORS

Each new supervisor, in conjunction with his or her first level supervisor, must prepare an Individual Development Plan based on personal and organizational needs within forty-five (45) calendar days of appointment to the supervisory position. The IDP should reflect the competencies stated in the civilian leadership continuum. The courses which a new supervisor can choose from to ensure that they possess the proper background in supervisory skills include:

- Introduction to Personnel Management for Supervisors*¹
- Supervisory Skills I: Introduction to Supervision*
- Supervisory Skills II: How to Motivate Others*
- Introduction to Project Management
- Team Skills and Concepts (TQL course)
- Leadership Communication: Confidence & Competence
- Leading Organizational Change
- Advance Project Management
- Shaping the Mentor experience as a Mentor
- The Science of Leadership and the Art of Gaining Followers (TQL course)
- The Seven Habits of Highly Effective People

* Mandatory for all new supervisors during probationary period.

¹ This course is required for all new supervisors within 6 months of appointment to supervisory position. It is also highly recommended for experienced supervisors who are new to the command.

PROGRAM CERTIFICATION

New supervisors should strive to complete a total of 100 hours of supervisory training within the first eighteen months of appointment. Those individuals who meet this goal will receive a certificate of achievement in supervision.

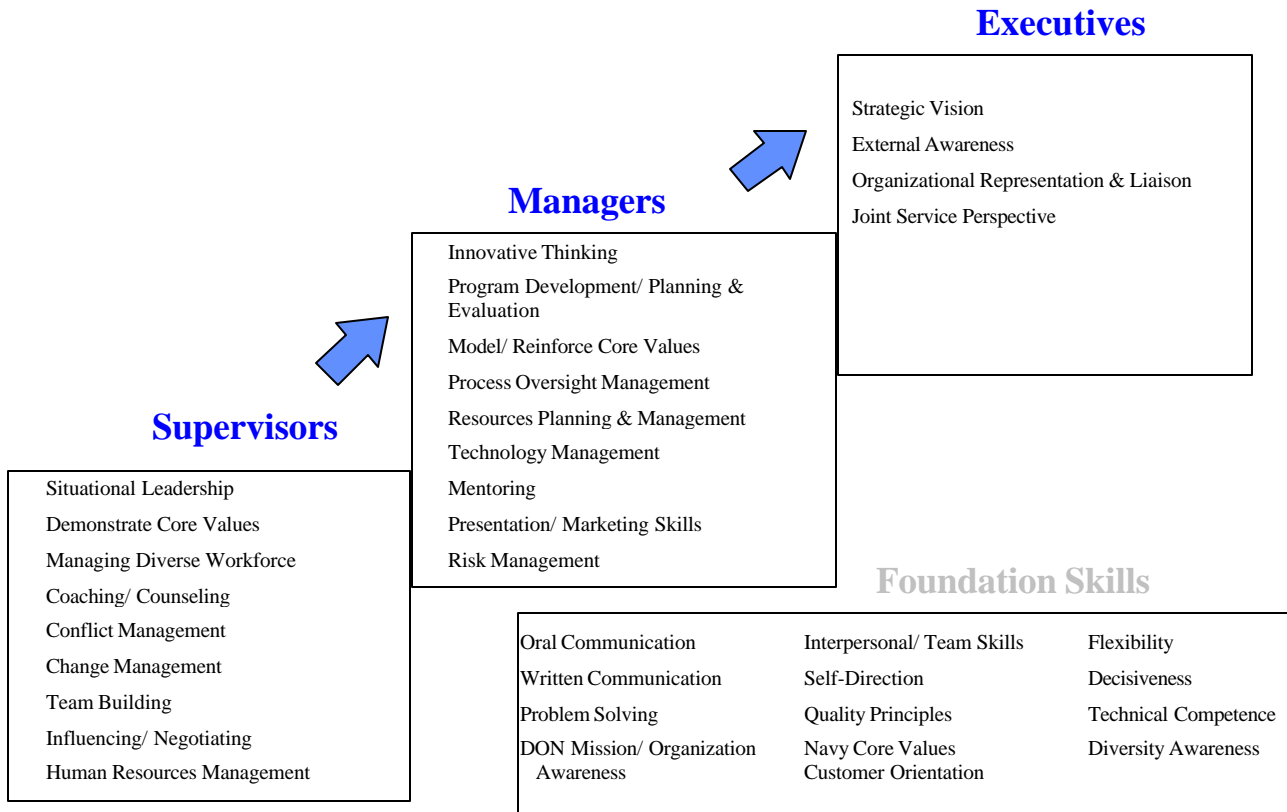

EXPERIENCED SUPERVISORS

Experienced supervisors and managers should ensure that they continue their development. The old method of a “boss” and “subordinate” is no longer valid in a competency aligned organization. Today’s supervisor requires a new set of skills including, coaching, leading, and mentoring. Leadership becomes critically important during transition periods. Any of the courses which were mentioned above would enhance the skills of a seasoned supervisor.

PRE-SUPERVISORY DEVELOPMENT

Many professionals desire to move into management positions. In order to assist their development, we are offering Dynamic Leadership. This workshop provides the opportunity for employees to prepare for the transition to leadership by assessing their capabilities and interests in supervision. Individuals who do not occupy positions which are designated as supervisory are welcome to sign up for all other classes as space permits.
